

How To Become PRIME MINISTER

Our Democracy made simple for all ages

In this remarkable and entertaining show, even the youngest students are able to understand the basics of democracy. Much more than simply a mock parliament, actors create situations children already relate to, as examples of the democratic principles of government. Students realise how and why the system works and have fun in the process!

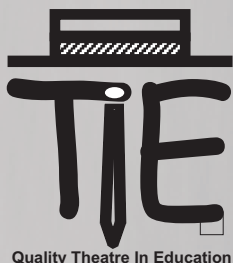

Children experiment with group decision making from an early age. Through comic sketches, this show demonstrates that the way we are governed can be understood as a natural extension of these processes. Participatory exercises refine the basic majority vote, until students gain a clear understanding of the workings of the Australian parliament.
